

Hello, MK here.

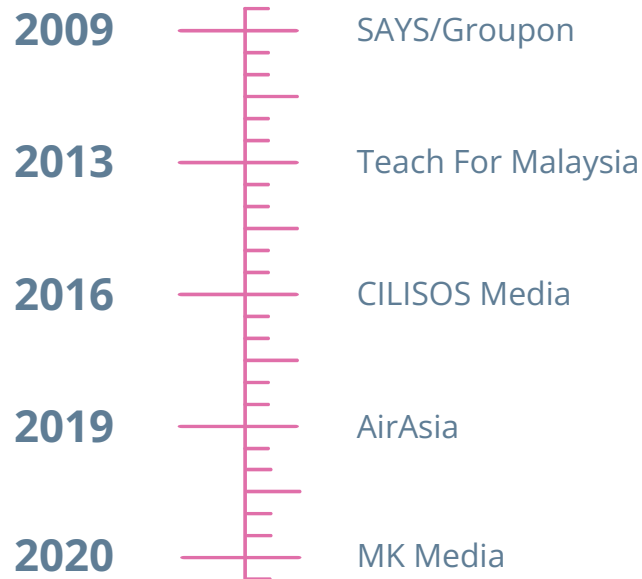

I am a digital marketing strategist and analyst
based in Kuala Lumpur.

Where I'VE BEEN

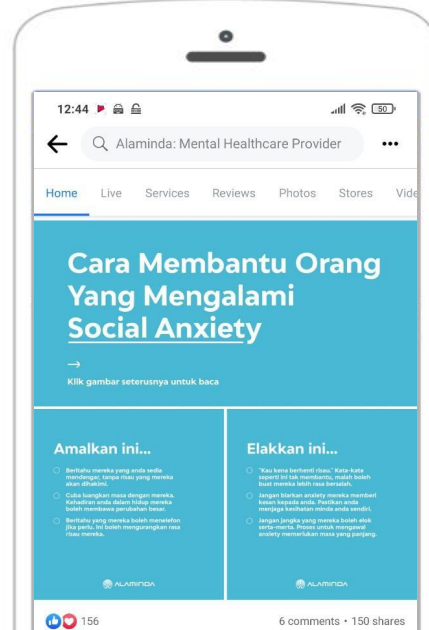

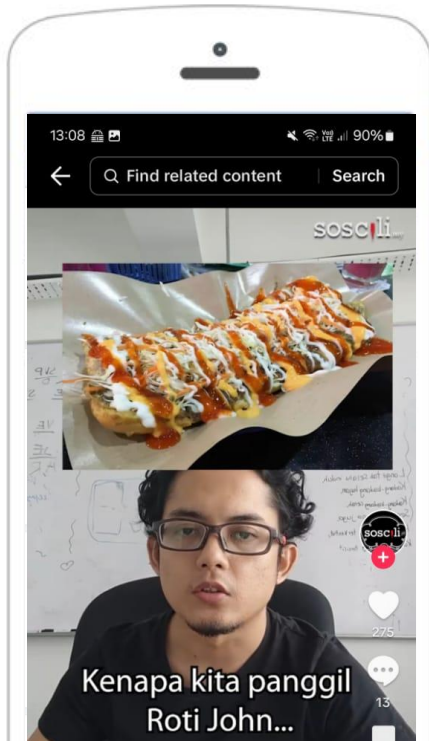

I have worked in various sectors including startups, agencies, nonprofits, and corporates; involving various segments including commerce, media, fintech, and B2B.

In past organizations, I mostly took on middle management role as an editor or content lead.

What I've worked on

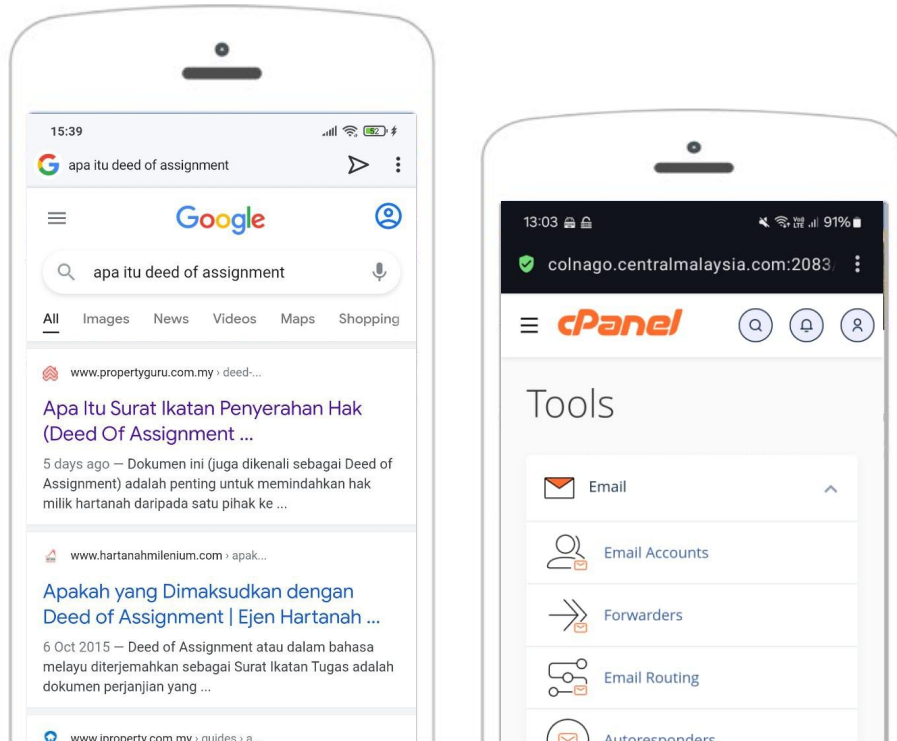

Digital marketing (social media and content)

I have mostly been in digital marketing where content is used as the main strategy to attract and retain leads via long-form articles, whitepapers, social media posts, newsletters etc.

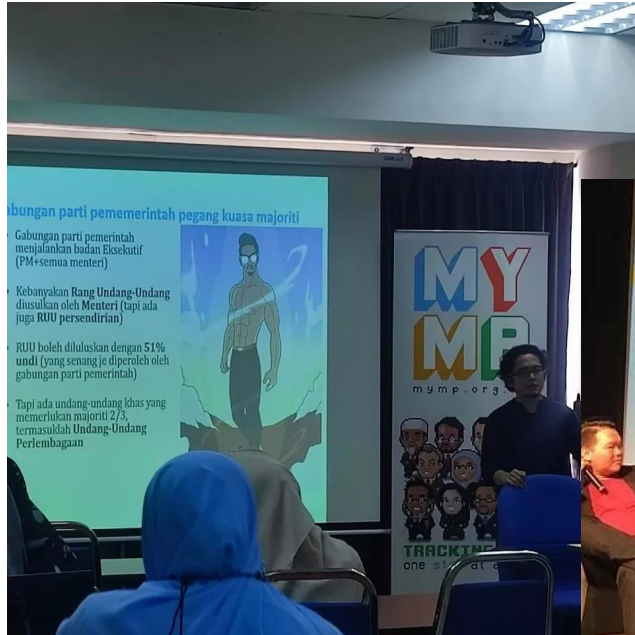

The responsibilities include coming up with annual/quarterly strategies, managing content calendars, analyzing performance, launching organic and paid campaigns, and so forth.

Website and SEO management

Besides the creative/strategic element of digital marketing, I am also experienced in the technical/operational aspects of it including building a website from the ground up, working with CMS (content management system), working with analytics and custom APIs, and so forth.

Training, workshops, and interviews

I've delivered training sessions and workshops related to digital marketing, media, and journalism; and also conducted interviews with public figures, corporates, and members of the public.

Recent projects and testimonials

Impact assessment report (March 2024)

Background: A non-profit inquired for a third-party impact assessment report of their publication.

This in-depth report includes a background about the current content landscape, audience analysis, performance analysis, competitive analysis, community engagement analysis, and content strategy proposal.

Feedback from client's funder: "...they are some of the best reports (I've) seen over the years"

BM translation for an art project (Dec 2022)

Background: An artist spearheaded an art project on body positivity – which featured interviews with various women; and I was approached to assist with the BM translation.

This project posed an interesting creative challenges: how can we honour the artist's original messaging while making it accessible to the Malay-speaking audience.

Feedback from the client: “(The subjects) both said that they feel very moved! That the words felt through them a lot more than the English text.”

THANKS!

My current mission is to utilize my tech and marketing know-how back to social causes (non-profits, social enterprises). So hit me up if you know of any connections!

Regardless, if you have any business inquiries or just wanna have a cup of coffee, let's get in touch.
